It brings together professionals from camping tourism, academia, destination, management, protected areas, public and private sectors, and local communities.

Key topics include sustainable tourism development, climate change, natural resource protection, green investments, Nature-based solutions (NbS), smart technologies, and AI in campsite planning and management.

Participants will explore best practices, smart energy systems, spatial planning, and digital tools for responsible tourism development. The event encourages interdisciplinary exchange and dialogue to shape future-ready, resilient, and sustainable tourism destinations.
